TALK IT OVER

Have you ever had experience trying to lead when someone is rebelling? What makes it exceptionally hard? What experience have you had or seen when God has patiently allowed someone or a group to rebel and experience their consequences? How do you understand that as God showing love? Deborah is standing between a generation that had lost its way and a generation God has called to do great things. It called her to rise up in courageous faith. Discuss the way you find yourself there. Faith stands firm in the face of fear. Where is fear trying to control you? Faith doesn't deny fear – it refuses to be controlled by it. Faith speaks boldly even when the odds are against you. What truth do you need to speak – in your home, team, school, work, or church that feels risky but necessary? Faith acts courageously when called. Where is God asking you to act in obedience, not just believe from a distance? Faith inspires confidence in others. Whose faith is inspiring you? Who needs you to help them rise up? Faith gives glory to God alone. True faith always points back to God. How can you authentically point people to Jesus when you win?
